...Editorial...

*"Keep pushing, 'tis better than sitting aside
And sighing and watching and waiting the tide;
In life's earnest battle, they only prevail
Who daily march onward and never say fail".*

—West

THROUGH all the annuals of historic man there have been set down the records of tribes and nations. Every people has ever reserved the right of criticism, not only of the then present publications but of those handed down from age to age. It is, then, no more than a natural inference that you should be expected to judge us, the annual staff, for our good or evil works. But, Oh, connoisseur that thou art, we have done our best; we have toiled night and day for weeks and months that this, the results of our labors, might be worthy of your ownership.

We have sought to picture the true spirit of the students and faculty of Upper Sandusky High School in the classroom and in the curricular activities.

If we have recorded this material in forms that shall call forth pleasant reminiscences of high school days, we have attained our purpose.

SENIOR SONG

*Oh, we love thee, love thee, dear old school,
Love thy standards, firm and true;
May we live by thy ideals;
May we honor to thee do;*

*May we e'er thy praises sing;
Though from thee we're gone
Thy friendships linger on,
Thy mem'ries to us ever cling.*

—Mary Jane Gaver, '32
Melodys Vander Cooks “Cincinnatus”

CLASS OF 1932

*Lament who will, in fruitless tears,
The speed with which our school days fly.
We sigh not over vanished years,
But watch the school years hasten by.*

*We're Upper's Indians ready to battle,
To fight our own way through;
And each his own canoe must paddle
To raise the standards of thirty-two.*

*'Tis the class of nineteen thirty-two
That made the changing seasons gay.
Yet as we view the skies so blue,
We dread the ending day of May.*

*The days of parting are growing near,
And all smiling with a pleasant face,
Reviewing the things they held most dear,
Hoping in later years they'll win the race.*

*In due time reunion will come
When all shall recognize his cue,
And thank the school for what they've done
For the class of nineteen thirty-two.*

By Leona Roth, '32

THE CLASS OF '32

*Our journey is nearly over,
The port at last in view.
We've been brave sailors, everyone,
The class of thirty-two.*

*And now our class is parting;
Each person goes his way
To play his part in the world of men,
To progress day by day.*

*Sometimes the sea was stormy;
The sailors and the crew
Would work with dauntless courage
To see the whole task through.*

*Our friendships formed in schooldays
Are ties that ever hold
To bind our class together
When we have grown quite old.*

*Our ship is anchored safely,
Our voyage closed and through;
We have reached our place of parting,
The class of thirty-two.*

Margaret Jane Wall, '32

*It is our turn now to say goodbye
To the years we've worked together,
To the carefree life;
And the comrade ship;
It could not last forever.*

*Some days seemed long and tiresome;
Still we strove against the tides,
But not alone did we find our way;
Our teachers were our guides.*

*But our work is not yet done.
Four years we've spent in Upper High,
There are trials to face
And paths to trod;
Our work has just begun.*

*Through the years which lie before us
May all these memories stay,
And when we're left
To trod alone,
God grant we may find our way.*

Junior Class History

ON a sunny day in September, 1929, ignorant Freshmen went gayly into the Union Building. But, oh, how sorrowful were our faces after that first and longest day! What a time we would have with Latin and such hard Alggebra, but with Robert Logsdon as our president we passed a very happy year, and were ready to tackle another, our Sophomore year.

When we first went into the Senior building we really thought we were grown up. But, alas, one look at the high and mighty Seniors and Juniors, and so many boys and girls in the halls, we were completely bewildered. Of course, we learned our way about very soon, and found that the Seniors and Juniors were really not so great after all. We all had a good time, and took part in many of the school activities. Our officers last year were Gale Neiderhauser, president; Edward Landversicht, vice-president; Martha Jane Bringman, secretary and treasurer. We also enjoyed our two class parties.

At the beginning of our Junior year we elected officers as follows: Carl Halbedel, president; Clayton Hook, vice president; Eleanor Traschsel, secretary; and Mary Taylor, treasurer. Then we all went to work to earn money for the Junior-Senior banquet. We sold candy at basketball and football games, and sponsored a program given by the Womens' Music Club. Our first class party was held at Christmas time at which we had a lovely tree, and Santa Claus, who made us a visit, gave each one a nice present. Our second party was held in April, and was carried out very successfully as a "Spring Party."

Now, in the spring of 1932 we are leaving school again, but we hope to be back next year to finish prepaaring ourselves for graduation.

Sophomore Class History

THE Sophomore Class, rather frightened and nervous as this year was their first in the Senior High, mounted the steps to their home room, eighty-eight members strong.

The teachers had a rather unexpected and pleasant surprise. This Sophomore Class really liked to work

At our first class meeting the following officers were elected: president, Paul Cook; vice-president, Mary Louise Witzel; secretary, Nelda Veith; treasurer, Jane Flock.

After many vain attempts to have a party we finally succeeded in obtaining one, which was held March 11, at the Senior High. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Cope, Mr. and Mrs. Fleeman, and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Houpt.

The Sophomores had a great number of representatives on the football field and in basketball. They also took part in the music groups and many were in the operetta this year.

This has been a successful as well as a pleasant school year, and although we regret to leave our Sophomore Class, we are anxiously waiting to assume our role as Juniors.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Senior Band

We wish to express our appreciation to Mr. Huffman for his untiring efforts in behalf of the Upper Sandusky High School Band.

The band, composed of fifty-three members, has furnished music on many public occasions. It accompanied the football team to nearly all its games.

On April 30 the third annual band festival was held in this city with eight out-of-town bands participating. Captain Taylor Branson, leader of the U. S. Marine Band, and Eugene Weigel, Professor at Ohio State University, acted as adjudicators.

The officers of the band are: president, Joseph Bringman; secretary, Kathryn Gaver; and drum majors, Joseph Bringman and Maurice Philbrick.

The fourteen outgoing graduates extend their best wishes for the success of band.

The Band Festival

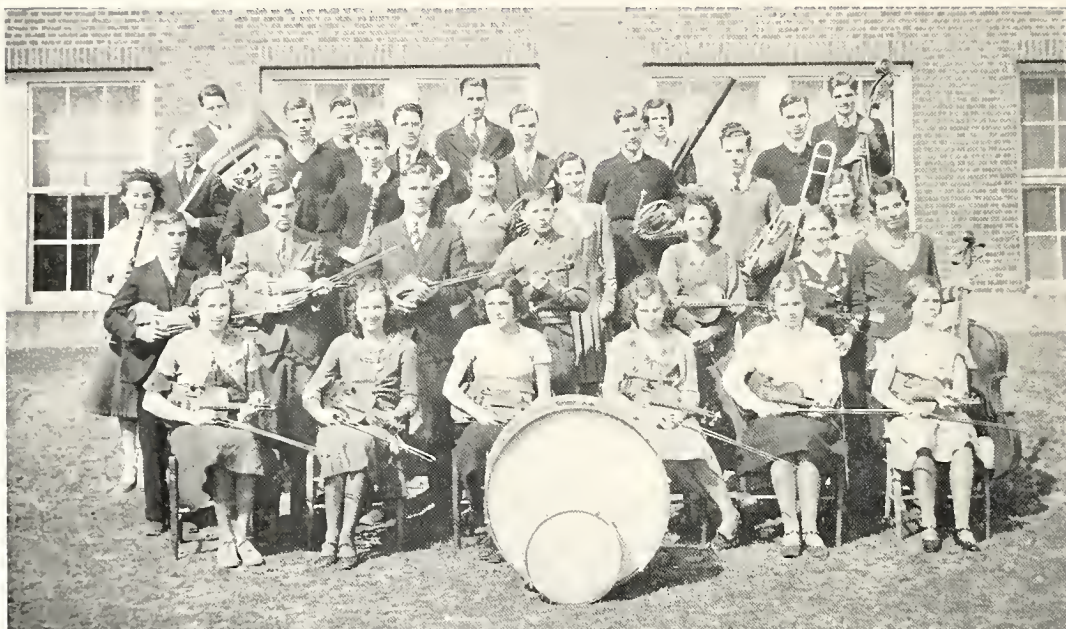

The Third Annual Band Festival was held in Upper Sandusky on April 30, 1932. The Bands participating were Bucyrus, Carey, Crestline, Findlay, Galion, Shelby, Jr. O. U. A. M. Tiffin, and Upper Sandusky.

The parade was held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and the evening concert was held at 7 o'clock. Each band played Urbana by Roberts and two or three selections of their own choice.

The critic was Professor Eugene J. Weigel of Ohio State University.

Have you noticed a decided improvement in our orchestra of 1932? The orchestra has advanced in the ability of the individual player and in its ensemble work.

Under the skillful guidance of Mr. Huffman we are now able to play more of the higher class music.

A number of the standard works in music have been added to our library during the past year.

The orchestra not only gave its services willingly on the different occasions that its services were required in the school but it also played a number of times for the churches and for other community activities.

Those of the Senior Class wish to express their thanks to Mr. Huffman for his untiring efforts during our high school days.

The Junior Orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Huffman, is one of the very valuable, though less prominent, musical organizations of the school. Its purpose is to instruct beginners in the rudiments of orchestral playing until they are sufficiently advanced to become members of the Senior Orchestra. Some of the less experienced members of the Senior Orchestra also play in the Junior Orchestra to obtain further practice and to complete the instrumentation.

The orchestra makes its public appearance at the annual musicale.

In early October a group of twenty boys banded together to blend their voices in a musical pleasure called the Boys' Glee Club. 'Twas not always pleasure if one had chanced to overhear us repeating a phrase two, four, six, yes, even eight times. We soon learned, however, that practice was one of the key notes of our club's success.

Our club gave various selections at numerous public appearances. At the last program of the year the club was in the Senior High Operetta, "All at Sea".

Mr. Huffman was the one who always helped us over those terrible discords which we often made. It was he who directed us. Alice Ayers was always at hand, giving us the right pitch and playing the accompaniment.

In September, 1931, the Seniors Girls' Glee Club was organized under the able direction of Mr. Huffman. This glee club is composed of thirty-six members.

Margaret Wall was appointed secretary of the club; Janet Garwood, librarian; and Henrietta Martin, pianist.

The Girls' Glee Club has made several public appearances. The first was at the Methodist Church at which two numbers were rendered. Since that time the club has taken part in many programs.

On April first the Senior High Operetta, "All at Sea", in which all the club members participated, was presented.

The patience and untiring efforts of Mr. Huffman will not be forgotten by a single member of the Senior Girls' Glee Club.

The Senior High Chorus, which consists of both boys and girls, was organized at the beginning of September soon after school began. It met only once a week, on Tuesday.

The chorus constantly grew better as the year progressed, and each member has derived some benefit from his work this year.

Mr. Huffman, our director, deserves very much credit for his patience with this large group of boys and girls because through his hard work and guidance the chorus has been able to accomplish its work.

The Junior Chorus under the direction of Miss Louise Armstrong has progressed very well this year.

The Chorus consisting of fifty members has sung on several occasions during the past year. All are pupils of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades.

Much credit is due Miss Armstrong for her efforts in making the Junior Chorus a success. She has worked very diligently in training the voices of the boys and girls, and for this she deserves much praise.

We wish to thank Miss Armstrong as well as Misses Betty Lou Leser and Mary Elizabeth Pagnard, who were our able and efficient pianists during the year.

The aroma of roasting wieners and toasting marshmallows, later, girls grouped reverently about a camp-fire, these are signs of the G. R. Gypsy Hike, which renews the club's activities for another year.

For what the club stands can best be explained by the purpose: to make this club force of uplift in our school; to find the key to our better selves; to give service, friendship, and love to all. Each girl strives to make her life symbolic of this purpose.

Club meetings, parties, and entertainments composed the year's program. Among these were the Halloween party with the Hi-Y, the Christmas pageant, the Christmas party for the poor children, the meeting for the alumnae, and the Washington Tea for our mothers.

At all times we were very efficiently supervised by Miss Stalter with the following officers performing their duties: president, Adda Irwin; vice-president, Alice Berg; treasurer, Barbara Cowgill; reporter, Madeline Bolish; secretary, Thelma Hoover.

Purpose: To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

Aims: Clean speech
Clean athletics
Clean living
Clean scholarship

Forty who were interested in living up to and practicing the purpose and aims named above met every Thursday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Building.

Our program was made up of many fine discussions on religious and life topics. Many interesting social functions were held during the year. Among them was the Annual Hi-Y Alumni Banquet, the G. R. and Hi-Y Hallowe'en Party, and the party for the needy children. Mr. Houpt and Mr. Cope contributed fine talks to our program.

Much of the fine fellowship which was developed in our club was due to Mr. Lloyd Hale who voluntarily met with us and aided us at each meeting.

The Sodalitass Vergiliana, under the able guidance and assistance of the instructor, Miss Erma Stearns, has completed a most successful year.

A group of twenty-three organized in October and selected the following officers: Herman Stalter president; Mary Jane Gaver, program chairman; Margaret Miner, secretary.

Interesting meetings were held every month at the home of different members, with three acting on a committee. Latin songs, games, and contests furnished entertainment.

In December the club presented several Latin plays before several former members.

The club also decided to publish a "Praecursor" as the former classes had done. Mary Jane Gaver was chosen as editor-in-chief.

May next year's class enjoy and appreciate this organization and its leader as we have.

El Circulo Castellano organized this year with Paul Frank as president; Charles Milligan, vice-president; Lela Stephan, secretary; Robert Belzner, treasurer.

The club met once a month, with each member contributing his or her part in making these meetings entertaining as well as educational. Plays written by the club members were presented and Spanish songs were sung.

The business as well as the entertainment of each meeting was conducted in Spanish.

In February nine members were initiated into the club. Each February the honor members of the first year Spanish class are taken into the club and a banquet follows the initiation.

Members of the club correspond with Spanish speaking students in Mexico, South America, Porto Rico, and other Spanish nations in America. This enables them to become better acquainted with the customs, habits, and diversions of these Spanish speaking people.

This year the club has adopted a constitution which was drawn up by the Executive Committee. This proves to be very helpful.

The purpose of the club is to increase our knowledge of the habits and customs of the Spanish speaking nations, to speak Spanish well, and to give us a better understanding of our Spanish speaking neighbors.

We appreciate the patience and willingness of la profesora, Miss Helen Pease, for teaching us to speak and understand the Spanish language and helping us to come to a better understanding of the customs, habits, and songs of the Spanish speaking nations, who are our southern neighbors.

Our Public Speaking Class of this year consists of eighteen members. Our aim is to learn to speak in public and to carry our conversations more smoothly.

We have accomplished many things during the year by contests and by learning prose and poetical works of our most noted authors. We believe that this will aid us as much in the future as it has at the present. We have all seen a remarkable improvement in ourselves and others of the class. This we owe to our efficient instructor, Mr. Moore, who has taught us to the best of his ability.

Debate

The affirmative team: Robert Belzner, Capt., Madeline Bolish, Joseph Bringman.

The negative team: Paul Frank, Capt.; Mary Jane Gaver, Alice Berg.

Resolved: that the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance.

The negative team of Upper defeated the Crestline affirmative team here; Crestline negative team defeated the Upper affirmative team at Crestline on March 28, 1932.

Much credit is due to Mr. L. H. Houpt and Mr. N. J. Rall, who successfully coached these teams.

The State Scholarship Test was given to high school students of Ohio, May 7, at various state colleges of Ohio. By awarding honors to those of high standing it was hoped that an interest in scholastic endeavor and attainment would be increased. Each school in Ohio was given the privilege to choose its best students in the branches in which the tests were given.

The seniors who received the highest grades were offered scholarships to state colleges. Each team was ranked, as well as each pupil taking the test.

The Upper Sandusky team competed in the following branches: Chemistry, Physics, Latin I and II, American History, English IX, X, XI, and XII, General Science, Plain Geometry, Algebra I, and World History.

The team was in charge of Mr. Fleeman, faculty advisor.

Our school was represented by some of its best and most diligent students.

The Upper Sandusky team won first place among the exempted village school in the Bowling Green district.

It is a difficult task to keep an average of 90% or more for four long years. To do this means sacrifice, diligent toiling, and unremitting concentration. So the annual staff feels that these students deserve honorable mention and praise. Even though each one has sacrificed many pleasures for scholastic pursuits it has been time and energy well spent. A good high school record is a valuable asset which furnishes to any youth a firm grasp on the ladder of life.

Much credit goes also to the instructors who have taught us and encouraged us to do our best, a valuable habit not only for school life but the great school of life.

Football

The opening day of practice found a squad of about thirty "orange and black" out for football. Coach "Bumps" Little began at once to whip us into shape. The prospects for a successful season seemed good.

We met our first opposition at Findlay and succeeded in holding them to a reasonably low score. In this battle several of our best men were injured. Luck seemed to be against us. We never entered a game unless we had several on the injured list. In spite of our hardships we held several very good teams to low scores. We finished the season at Carey, on a wet slippery field, with a scoreless tie.

The past season cannot be called successful as successful seasons are generally determined. However, we cannot deny the fact that considering the continued courage with which our team entered each game the season was not altogether unsuccessful.

Much credit is due to Coach Little, who always worked hard and willingly to give us all he knew. We Seniors wish him the best of success in the future.

The team wishes to thank the band, the student body, and the teachers for their willing support. We also thank our athletic managers, Mr. Holland, Mr. Derrickson, Mr. Houpt and our faithful managers, Don Shumaker and Paul Frank.

We departing Seniors wish the teams of the future all possible success.

Boys Basket Ball

When Coach George Buttermore, having lined us up for the first practice, told us the type of basketball that we were going to play, we were just a little disappointed because we had always used the short pass while he taught the long one. However, when we became accustomed to his system we would not have changed to any other.

We met our first foe here in Tiffin Business University. We dropped this battle but profited a great deal from the experience. After we had lost two more games out of the next three, prospects for a successful season seemed rather slim. Christmas vacation found us with a sorrowful record of one victory and three defeats. We took a week's rest and came back to defeat Fostoria with a score of twenty-three to thirteen. From then on our season was one long string of victories with the exception of the twenty-three to twenty-four set back at Bluffton. We won a medal for defeating Fostoria in the first round of the district Class A Tournament at Fremont but were defeated in the semifinals.

Coach Buttermore has certainly shown his title as a coach. The Senior members of the squad wish him the greatest success and will remember him not only as a good coach but also as a pal.

The members of the team wish to thank the three managers, Herbert Parish, Joe Bringman, and Paul Frank for their hard work throughout the season.

We extend our thanks also to Clair Holland, athletic director, Bob Derickson, assistant athletic director, and Mr. Houpt, treasurer. We are also grateful to all the loyal fans who backed us up so well at every game.

We departing Seniors, Fredrick Gottfried, John Harman, Ivan Hoover, and Charles Milligan, wish the teams of the future the best of success.

Girls' Basketball Team

The girls' basketball team is to be given much credit for the splendid work that it has done throughout the year, winning eleven out of its thirteen games.

We started to practice early in the year with forty girls answering the call of the new coach, Miss Beatty. After about four weeks of practice a squad of eighteen was picked for practice every night. It consisted of six Freshman, one Sophomore, seven Juniors, and four Seniors. With this lineup we were able to win our first game by a score of fifty to thirty-three and our last game by a score of forty-four to fifteen.

This season ended the basketball career of four Seniors, Captain Ellen Garner, Evelyn Eatherton, Madeline Bolish, and Helen Wilcox, but I am sure they will be with the team as they go on playing next year.

Nine of the girls received letters for playing a required number of quarters. The managers also received letters for their capable work with the team and all the other members of the team received numerals for their faithful observance of practice rules and their loyalty shown by remaining on the squad during the whole season.

Our success in this year's work is due to the team's co-operation and good sportsmanship and also to our coach, Miss Beatty, although at times it was rather hard to keep her training rules.

We, the departing Seniors, wish next year's team and coach much success.

The Junior-Senior Banquet

The Junior class entertained the Seniors of '32 on May 19, with a delightful cruise in the moonlight on the good ship, U. S. H. S. The toastmaster, Captain Halbedel welcomed the visiting passengers. Several speeches with nautical subjects were given by the students and teachers on board. The waitresses, dressed in sailor suits, served the banquet to the guests who found their places by means of small anchors which served as place cards. The crew (the orchestra), which was appropriately dressed, furnished the music for the evening from the upper deck. The tables were lighted with candles; the favors were candy life-savers, the dance beneath a blue canopy dotted with twinkling stars and a bright moon, while others lounged in the deck chairs to watch the dancers.

The class of '32 wishes to express its appreciation to the Junior class for the enjoyable evening's entertainment.

Senior Class History

President	Herman Stalter
Vice President	Paul Frank
Secretary	Lela Stephan
Treasurer	Adda Irwin

As a flower grows so did the Senior Class of 1932. Touched by the sun, rain, and dew, it grew from the seeds until the leaves branched and buds appeared. The seeds of this class were sown when we started to school. Then as we grew, bathed in the love and sacrifice of our parents and the help of our teachers we reached the first goal in our search for higher learning.

When we were Freshmen, Charles Milligan first blossomed into view as our president and he continued to bloom throughout the year as leader.

In 1929 we burst forth into new heights. We were transplanted from the old building to the new and there another bloom came forth with the name Byron Warfel who met and solved each new problem which came before this growing plant. The next year eighty-six buds were counted on the plant when it started its third year. This time the buds chose Karl Althouser as their president. He planned and advised them about various social functions and problems, among which was the Junior-Senior Banquet, an event which will live long in our memories.

Now the last part of this stage in the plant's life is drawing to a close. We are Seniors. In the second month of this year eighty buds held a meeting and Herman Stalter was elected chief bud.

Our class has contributed much to all school activities. After graduation we will have new goals, new hopes, and new worlds to conquer as we have conquered the problems set before us in our high school career.

Class Prophecy

I draw the wizard circle upon the sands and blue flames spring from the circumference. I describe an inner circle and green flames come responsive to my words of magic. I touch the common center of both, and red flames like serpents' tongues leap from the earth.

Over these flames I place my cauldron filled with the blood of a new killed doe, and as it boils I speak my enchantments and make my mystic signs and passes, watching the blood red mist as it rises to meet the spirits of the air.

I chant my solemn entreaties and while the cauldron boils their cloud forms grow ever distinct, till at length I can trace their every feature.

They are going into the future, soaring now on clouds of silver, but soon to drink the cup of experience to its fullest draught.

As each one soars forth, I look into my cauldron and read the fate of every member of the class of '32 written in the letters of blood.

The features of Donald Shumaker are first visible. Don is an inspiring young salesman. He is seen accompanying his fiancée, Margaret Wall, to a fashionable premiere opening of the new stage and movie revue, entitled "Around the World."

With them are the cream of greater New York's society, Byron Warfel and Donna Sheckler.

Lights fade into the distance and the overture begins with Wallace Bringman conducting. Suddenly the spotlight shifts to Mary Louise Lynn, guest artist of the orchestra, who makes her first appearance in "Lights Out."

The curtains part and the screen becomes illuminated and thus begins "Around the World."

Karl Frederick is lightweight instructor in the New York Y. M. C. A. and his assistants, Charles Jonas and John Miller, aid him in gaining weight.

Elizabeth Finkle is sitting at her desk managing chain stores all over the world.

Olive Carpenter and Tom Miller are hopping off for a few hours visit in Europe and expect to be back in time for the opera that evening.

Now to Washington, where Margaret Newcomer, Margaret Walter, and Margaret Swartz act as speakers in Congress. The Margarets seem to rule.

Lois Cowgill is off to South Africa as a missionary. Mary Hill and Thelma Swartz accompany her as Spanish interpreters.

John Klein is in search of big game there all by himself;—no, wait—, there's Chester Malaby and Ivan ("Squire") Hoover close behind.

There in Africa a new trade has been established. Evelyn Hildebrand, Florence Voelker, and Thelma Swihart are introducing "Empress Eugene Hats" with striking results.

Back in New Orleans Helen Wilcox and Hum Ulrich invite "Yew Awl" to dine with them.

Johnny Harman and Chick Milligan, hearing of this, rush to New Orleans from the Chinese-Japanese situation, where they have been examples of how to giggle inwardly without jarring the whole system.

Paul Frank is a promising young preacher. He is teaching young boys the evils of not being in by curfew time.

Class Prophecy

Sheldon McCleary is a dealer in second hand automobiles in the Mojave Desert. Loyal Trachsel sands and filters out his business while Martha Hetzel and Roma Karcher pound the ivories of their typewriters for him..

Dorothy Hotelling, Kathryn Shindler, and Catherine Bolish have opened a smart hotel in the western mountains.

Irene Thiel and Louise Horn stop there for the night after a long trip up Pikes Peak.

Vance Danford is chief television engineer in Hollywood. He receives many calls from Luella Horn, Gladys Veith, and Florence Shumaker. Yes, you know, they are beauty experts.

Ruth Ritterspach, Mildred Kirby, and Lillian Williams are running a " " in Milwaukee. Yes, you guessed it, a Paris Fashion Shoppe. Evelyn Fink and Gladys Hannum are callin to buy that new evening gown.

Bernard Loverich and Charles Sweigard operate a cross-country, oil-burning, free-wheeling, reverberating-vibrating, neck-breaking, ever-ready jitney bus.

Herbert ("Slabfoot") Parish is leaving for Turkey to take care of the harem while the Sultan goes to war.

Evelyn Eatherton and Loretta Shumaker have become shy, bottle-necked school teachers in Missouri.

I pause to replenish my cauldron with freshly drawn blood and instantly I see new forms appear before me.

On the stage Charles Siples is relating to his audience how he became the new rival of Professor Einstein.

Madeline Bolish, Alice Berg, and Annabelle Alspach carry on the drive against the unemployment situation. Or did someone carry them?

Joseph Bringham, that human piece of , or what have you? displays his talent and ability as a master magician and a bull-frog tenor. He attempted to follow in the footsteps of Will Rogers.

Evelyn Courtad displays her numerous works of art in London. Emil Gemmrig in the same act, shows his skill at wood carving.

Vergil Kuenzli, Paul Weaver, and Paul Filiater discuss scientific farming and how to live on a small farm within a radius of fifty miles from women.

Frederick Gottfried and Ellen Garner are relating how they became the athletic idols of the nation.

Adda Irwin and Herman Stalter are telling their audience how they manage to occupy the chairs of dead and dying languages at Oberlin.

Martha "Jany" Bardon enlightens the subject and the program with her "Bright Sayings From Young People."

Mary Jeanne Earp and Mary Lee Moore are demonstrating their new double-deck, crank-shaft, roller-bearing, oil-here sandwich.

Lela Stephan is stopping off on a tour from the movies in Hollywood where she has taken the place of "Gorilla" Swanson,—or was it Tallulah "Blockhead." Now it comes to me. She is playing opposite Clark "Stable" upon her return.

Martha Bremyer, the greatest living pianist, is assisting Henrietta Martin as she makes her world-wide debut in the soulful melody, "Onion Sweet Onion, Thou Makest Me Weep."

Peering into the cauldron, to my astonishment I find that it has boiled dry. "Little wonder," I muttered, as I wiped my brow and re-adjusted my brain at the proper angle. "That bunch is enough to cause a few screws to rattle in a sane person's dome, let alone mine."

Robert Belzner, '32

THE LINK OF THE LINCOLN

WE are glad to have had the opportunity of producing THE INDIAN VILLAGE ANNUAL for 1932...It is a pleasure to work with and for those who are appreciative and considerate... Living on the same "MAIN STREET," of the Nation, just a few miles apart, connected as we are with the scenes and incidents of the historic campaign of Col. Crawford, we have had opportunity for co-operation.

Our printing plant is equipped for such work as this Annual. The fact is we like to do any kind of printing, either small orders or large. A feature of our operation is service and substance worked together to produce printing that is satisfactory.

A robe of seeming truth and trust
Hid crafty observation;
And secret hung, with poison'd crust,

Dye-varying on the pigeon,
And for a mantle large and broad
He wrapt him in religion.
